

Mr. Mitchell's (Hard-Learned) Tips for
Not Being Creepy

A case study

Bob

Alice

Rule #1

When Bob finds out something about Alice, but doesn't learn it from Alice, then Bob is probably being creepy.

Rule #2

When Bob wants Alice to know something,
and gets the information
to her in some way other than talking to her,
then Bob is probably being creepy.

Rule #3

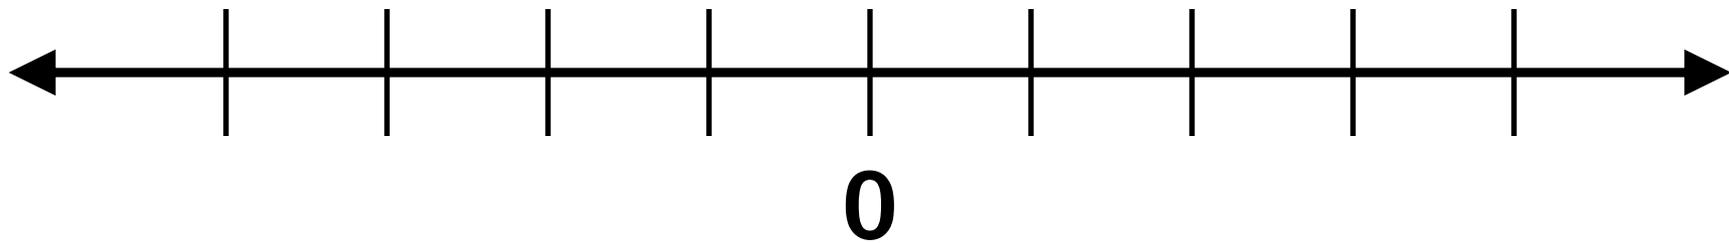

Even if Bob knows
everything about Alice,
it does not mean that Bob knows Alice.

And it certainly doesn't mean that Alice wants to know anything about Bob.

Or that she is happy about
Bob knowing all about her.

Rule # 4

If Alice is favorably disposed towards Bob, then she will be flattered when he says nice things to her or does them for her.

If Alice is not favorably disposed towards Bob, then she will probably be creeped out even if he says or does those same things.

Rule # 5

If Alice isn't interested in Bob, then nothing Bob can tell her or do for her is going to change her mind (probably).

Alice will only change her mind by watching Bob interact with others over a longish period of time.

If she's not interested,
*leave her alone.

On relationships

Stages of typical relationships:

0. unknown
1. strangers
2. acquaintances
3. friends
4. dating
5. boyfriend/girlfriend
6. engaged
7. married

Am I creepy?

People might think you're creepy if:

People might think you're creepy if:

- You follow people around

People might think you're creepy if:

- You follow people around
- You call someone (or email or text or IM) and you haven't asked them first

People might think you're creepy if:

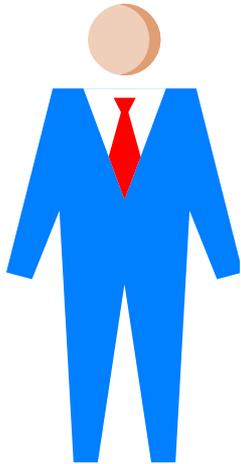

- You follow people around
- You call someone (or email or text or IM) and you haven't asked them first
- You wait for people to show up where you know they're going to be

People might think you're creepy if:

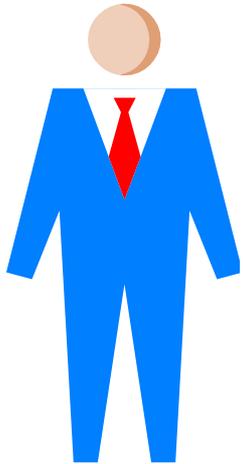

- You follow people around
- You call someone (or email or text or IM) and you haven't asked them first
- You wait for people to show up where you know they're going to be
- You touch people and they rarely touch you back

People might think you're creepy if:

- You follow people around
- You call someone (or email or text or IM) and you haven't asked them first
- You wait for people to show up where you know they're going to be
- You touch people and they rarely touch you back
- You are always the initiator or the one doing the 'seeking behavior'

People might think you're creepy if:

- You follow people around
- You call someone (or email or text or IM) and you haven't asked them first
- You wait for people to show up where you know they're going to be
- You touch people and they rarely touch you back
- You are always the initiator or the one doing the 'seeking behavior'
- You're always trying to buy/do nice things for someone you're not dating

People might think you're creepy if:

- You follow people around
- You call someone (or email or text or IM) and you haven't asked them first
- You wait for people to show up where you know they're going to be
- You touch people and they rarely touch you back
- You are always the initiator or the one doing the 'seeking behavior'
- You're always trying to buy/do nice things for someone you're not dating
- You leave anonymous notes

You can tell they're probably not interested if:

You can tell they're probably not interested if:

- They don't look at you when you're talking

You can tell they're probably not interested if:

- They don't look at you when you're talking
- They never seek you out in a group

You can tell they're probably not interested if:

- They don't look at you when you're talking
- They never seek you out in a group
- They never ask questions when you're talking

You can tell they're probably not interested if:

- They don't look at you when you're talking
- They never seek you out in a group
- They never ask questions when you're talking
- They have closed body language

The Test

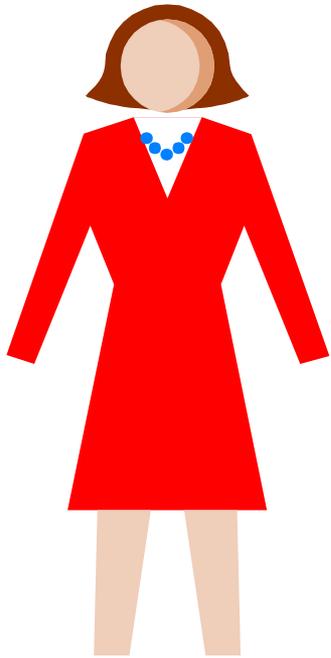

In private, ask a friend or two, “Do people think I’m creepy?”

(Don’t ask Alice this.
She’ll probably lie.)

Then ask, “What sorts of things do I do that people think are creepy?”

Tact Filters

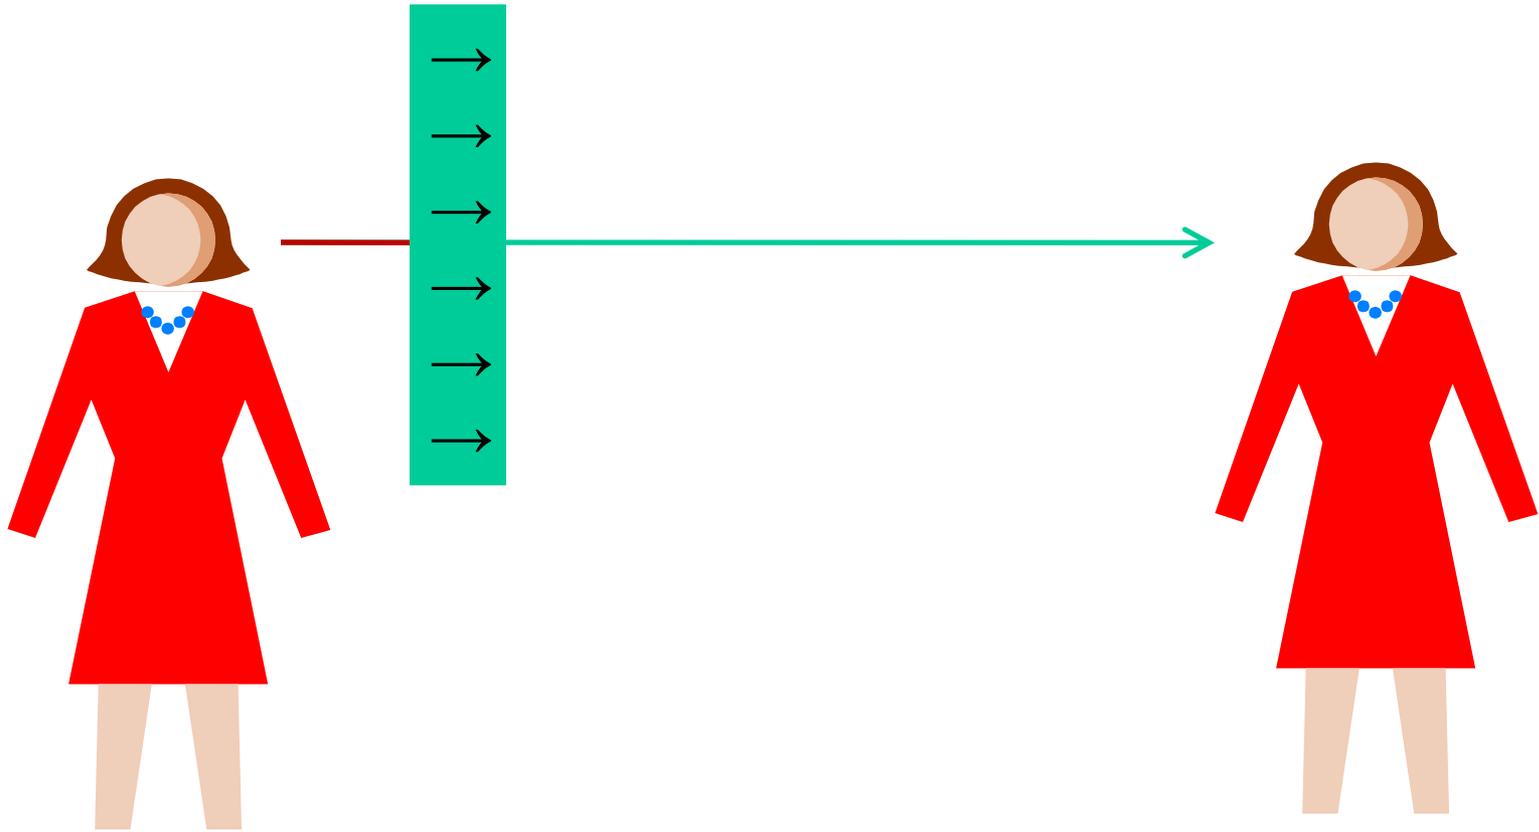

Tact Filters

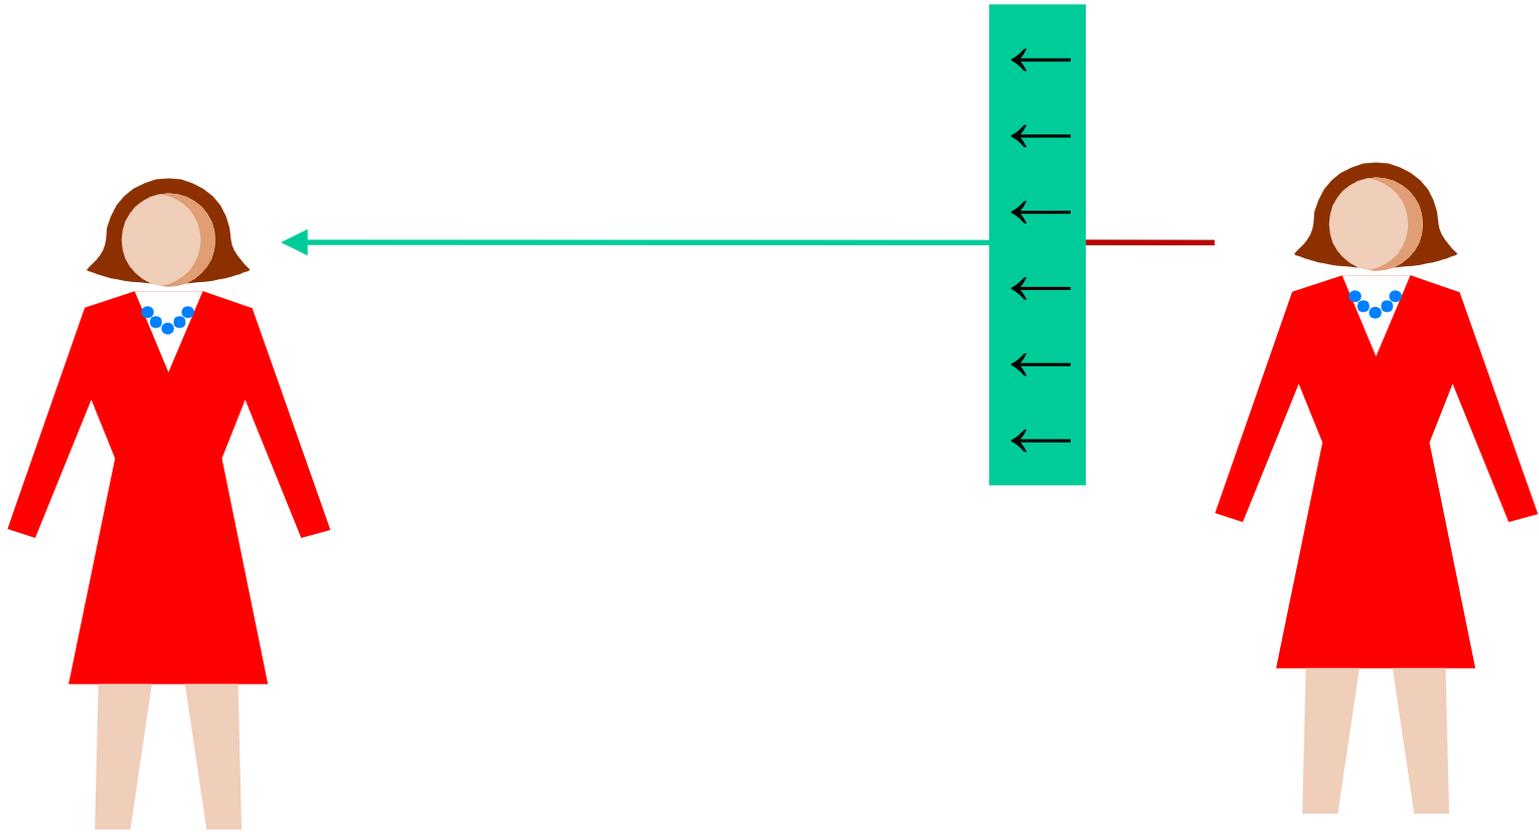

Tact Filters

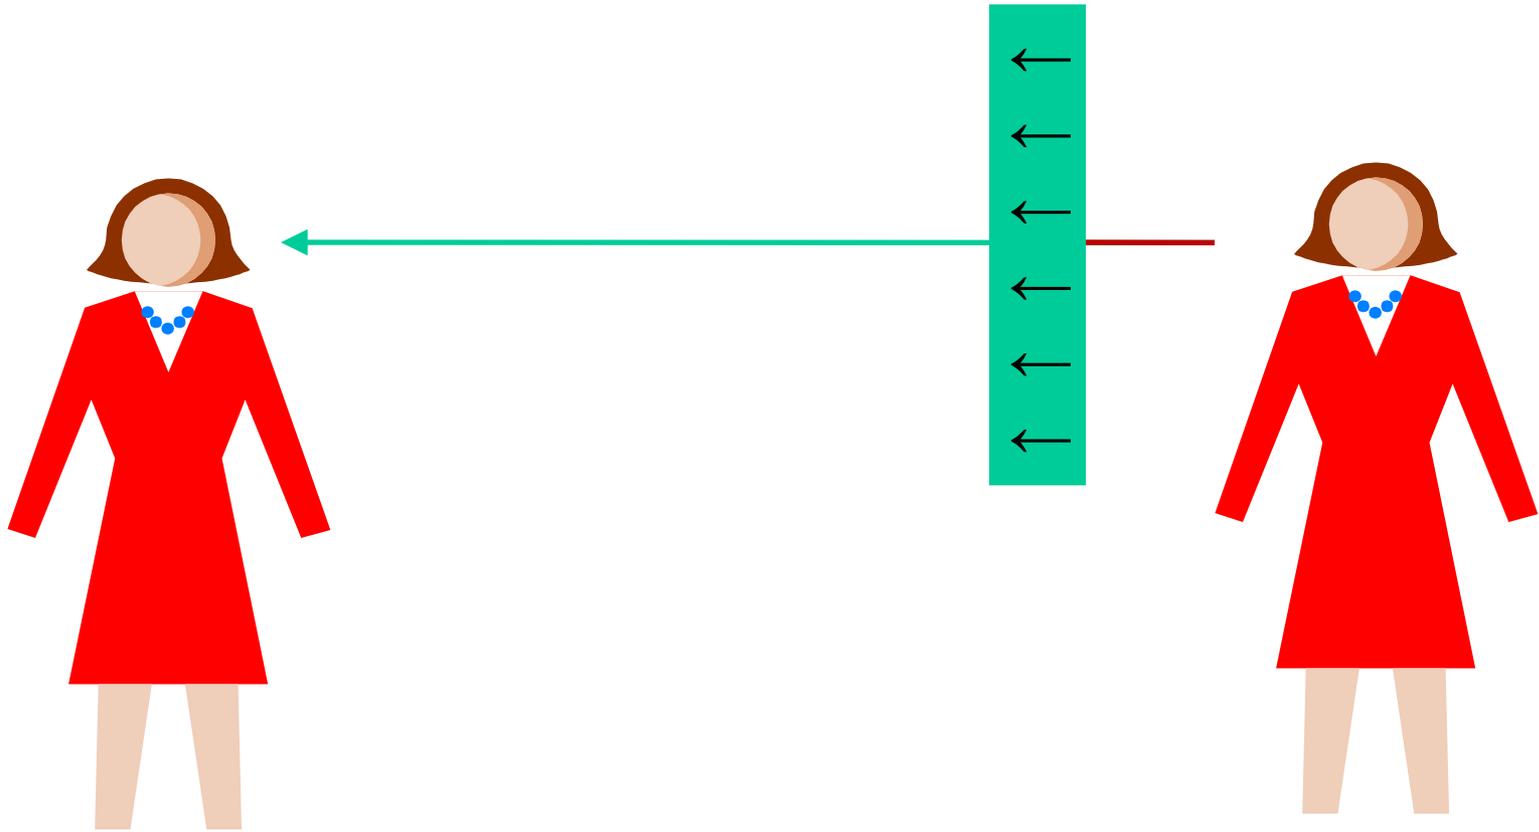

Tact Filters

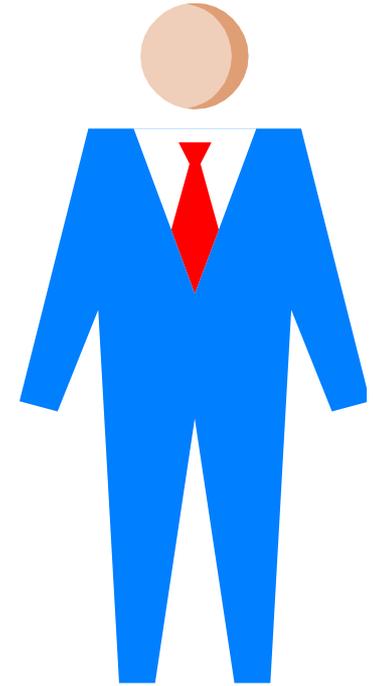

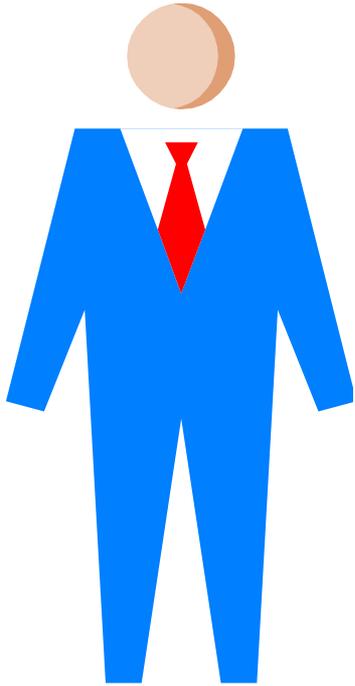

Tact Filters

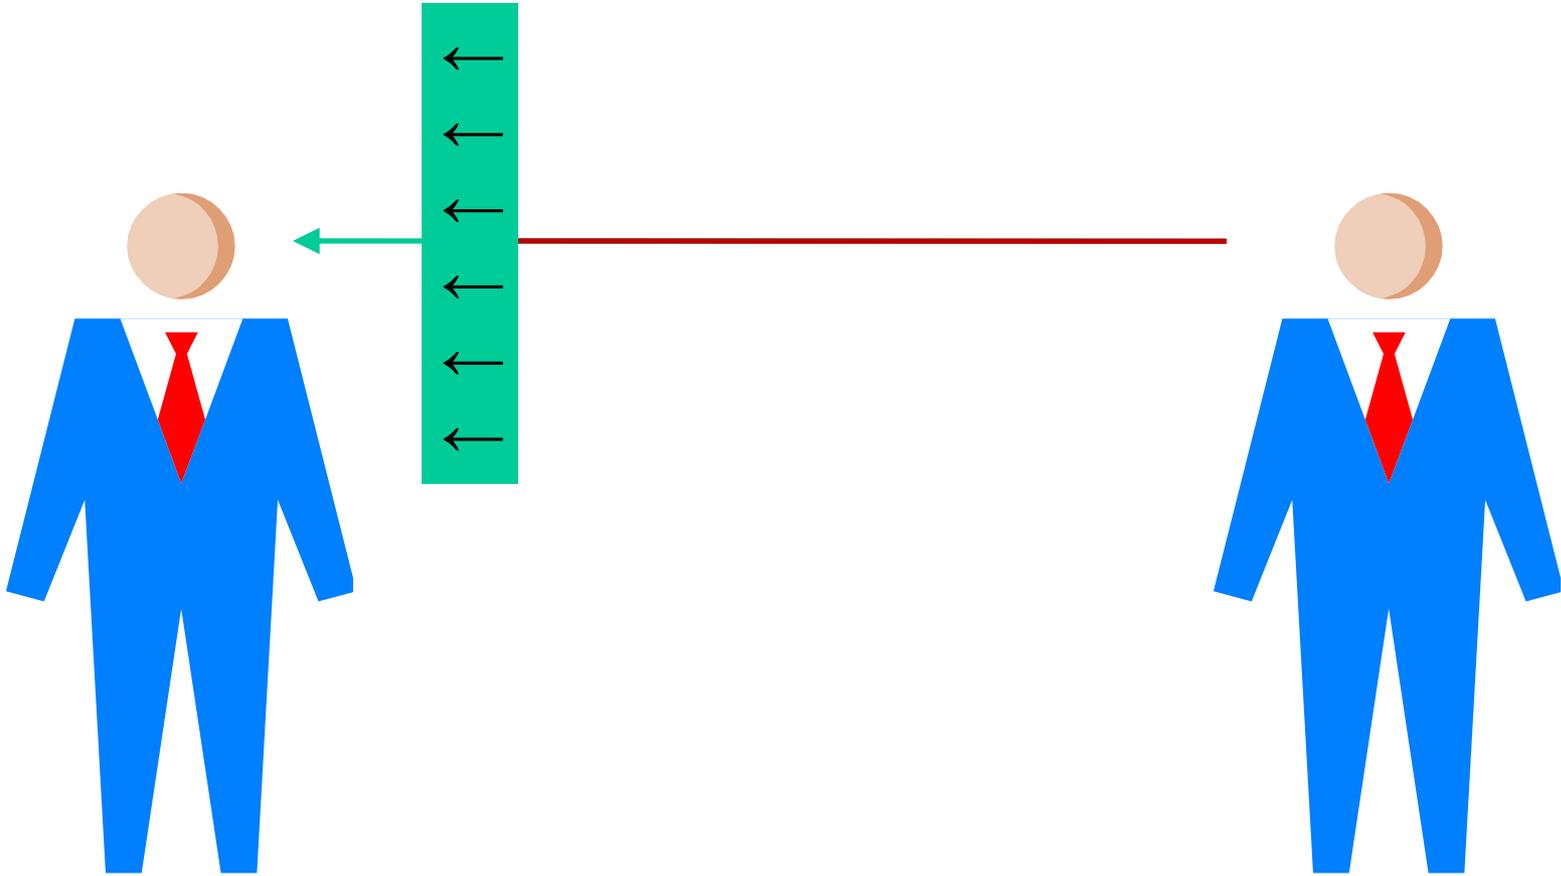

Tact Filters

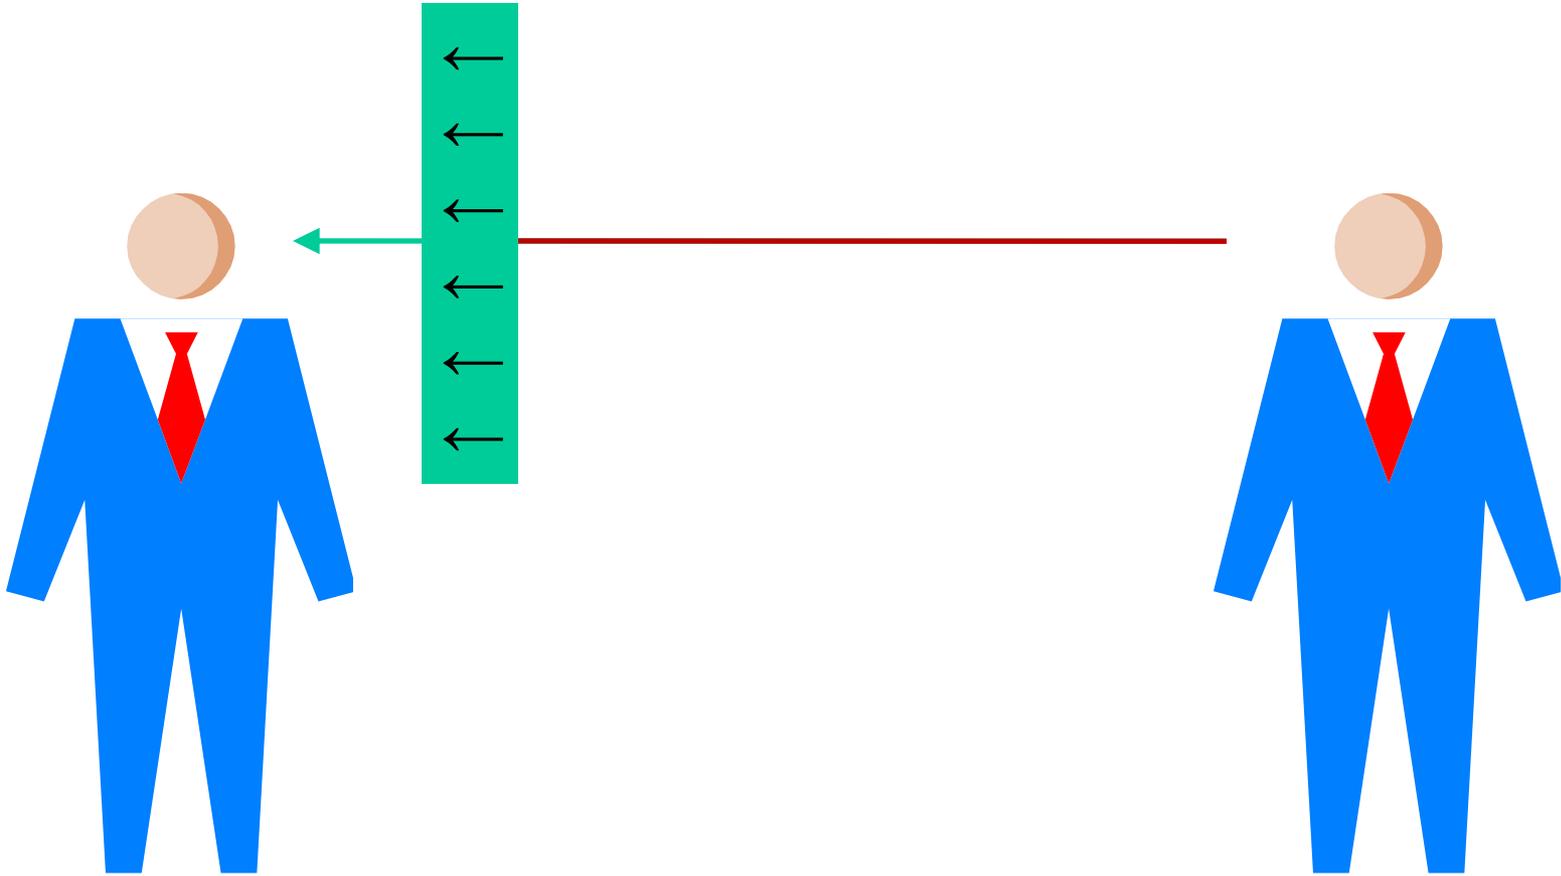

Tact Filters

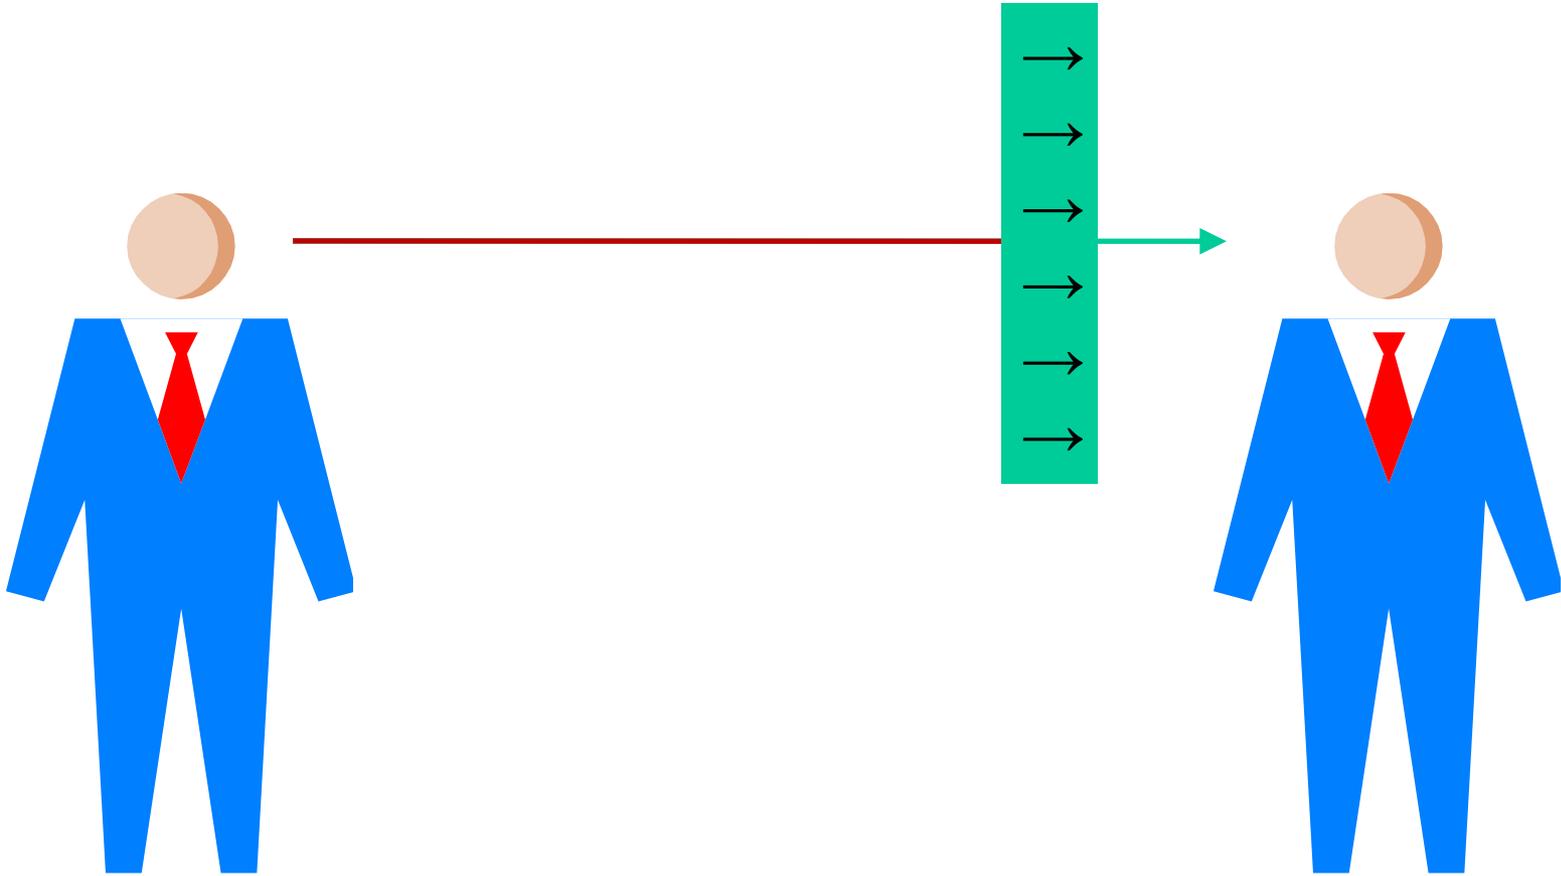

Tact Filters

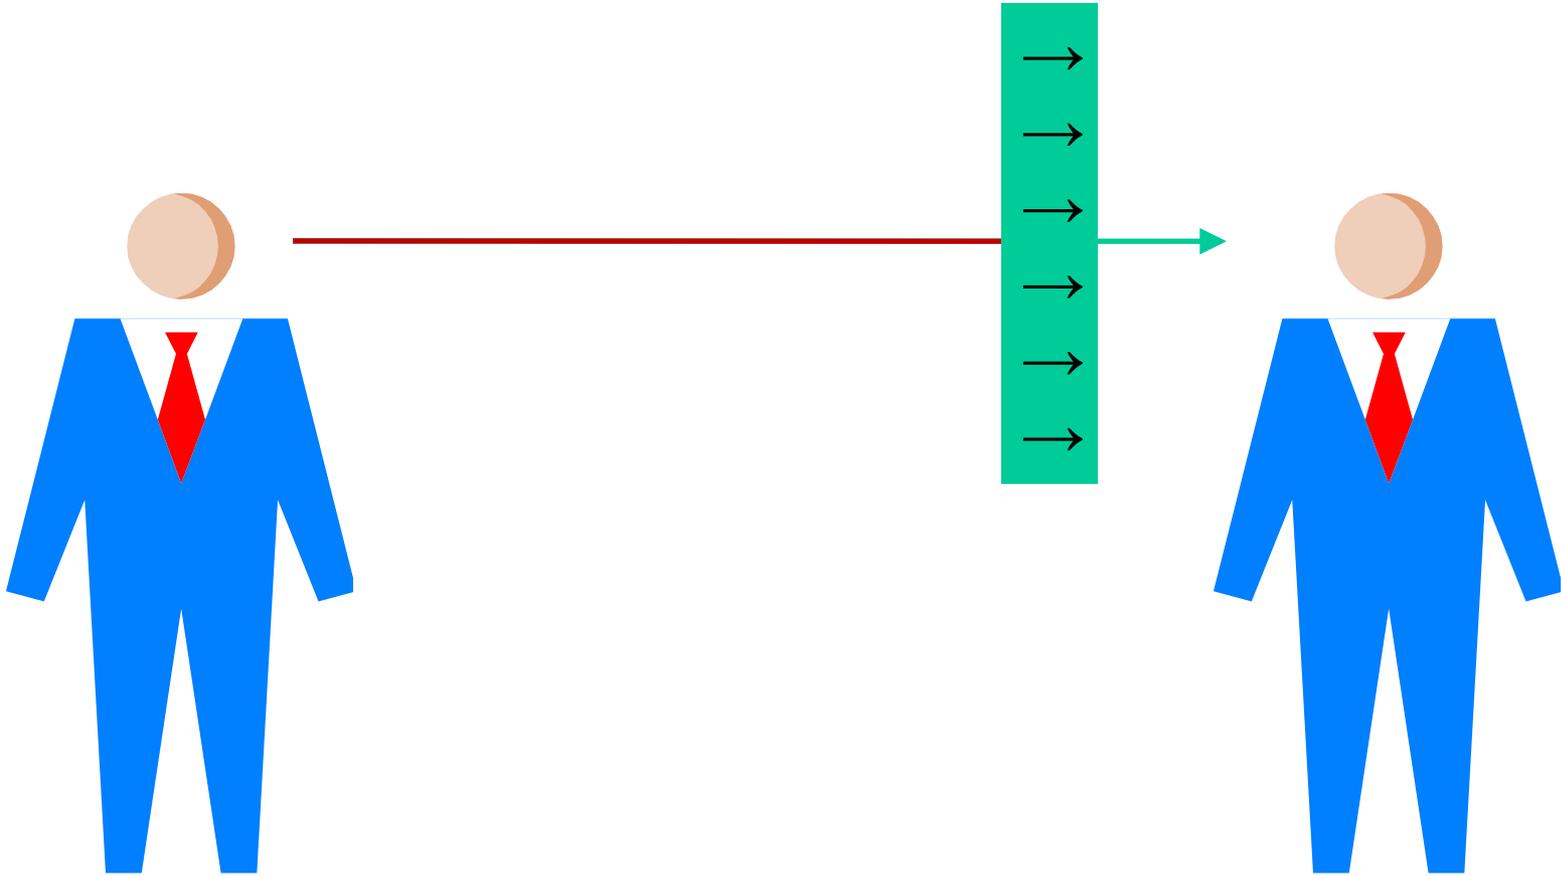

Tact Filters

Tact Filters

Tact Filters

Tact Filters

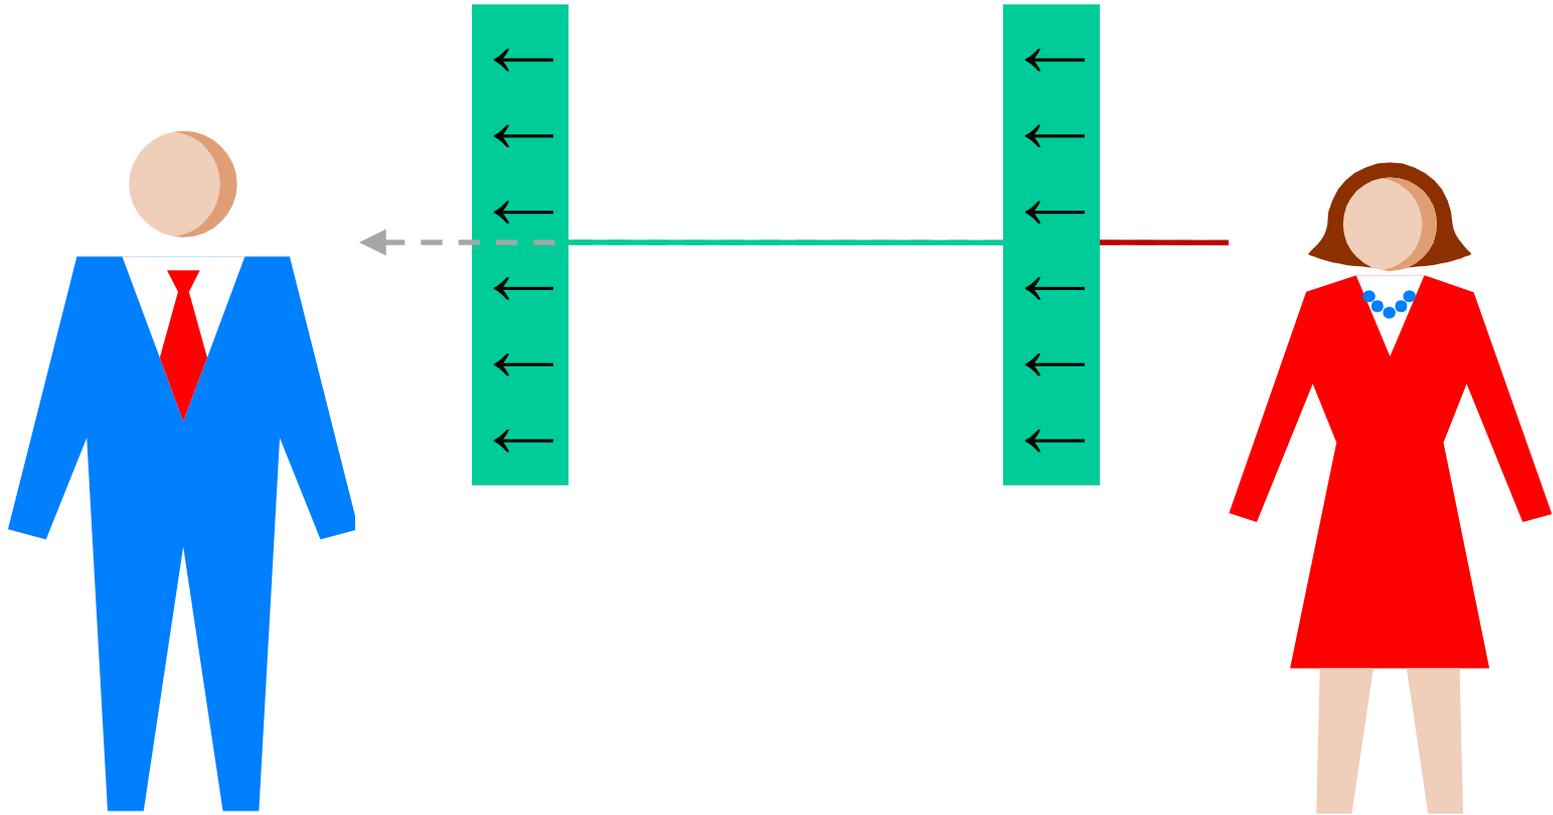

Tact Filters

Tact Filters

Tact Filters

Tact Filters

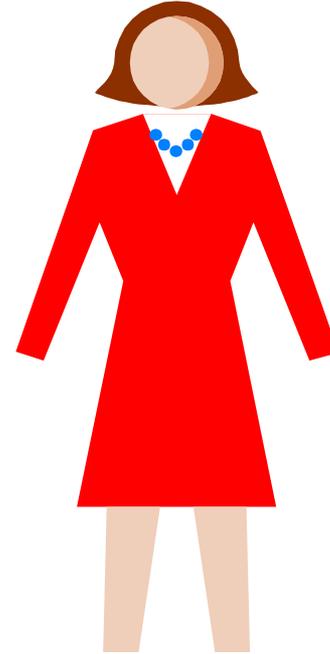

Tips for Alice

Tips for Alice

It's okay to be direct.

Don't Be Creepy

<http://dontbecreepy.com/>